Foreword

No work is perfect and this one is no exception, but documented information is sprinkled liberally throughout this book in an effort to seek out the facts. After all, an old Family Bible, with written data and family information consisting of names and dates passed down through the generations, is enough to make many people believe that "it's the gospel truth". And well that may be, but it is only in documenting the facts that the true story begins to unfold. This is one of the purposes of compiling a book about the Wartenbe's.

My mother, Esther (Wartenbe) Moffitt, searched her roots seeking family identity, as her own mother died when she was only 11 years old. She was the youngest of five daughters and was raised by her 18-year-old sister, Clara. Upon graduation from high school in Indiana in 1921, she came to California with her father, graduated from college, married, and settled in Sacramento, California.

For half a century, she collected scraps of family history information from relatives and distant cousins in Indiana, searched public records in courthouses and libraries, and wrote for records. She collected Family Bibles, old family photographs, letters, report cards, teacher's certificates, wills, and land deeds with equal enthusiasm -- and was always a willing listener, with pencil in hand, scribbling down names and dates of births, marriages, and deaths. There seemed to be a direct relationship between her discovery of "extended family" ancestors and the comfort she found in tracing her roots.

I worked with her on genealogical pursuits, as did my son, David Alan Babayco. Esther and her grandson enrolled in a genealogy class and began earnestly tracking ancestors in the 1970's.

Following my mother's death in 1979, I inherited her family records and spent two years organizing the information into readily usable form.

Serious research in 1983 included a five-month trip across the United States gathering and assimilating information and corresponding with others from The Genealogical Helper and various other genealogical publications. Also, county histories; cemeteries; maps; vital records; church, land, military, tax, and census records; will; old letters; and newspapers yielded interesting and valuable information.

I joined many genealogical organizations including the New England Historic Genealogical Society, the National Genealogical Society, and the Ohio Genealogical Society. The Root Cellar, Sacramento Genealogical Society, in Citrus Heights, California, provided monthly meetings featuring speakers on genealogical topics, as well as workshops and trips to the Sutro Library in San Francisco, California; the National Archives branch in San Bruno, California; and the Genealogical Library in Salt Lake City, Utah. Also, correspondents from all over the United States began to share their Wartenbe connections with me.

A computer was purchased in 1986 which simplified and speeded up the organization of data and information taken from Family History Questionnaires which the living Wartenbe relatives returned to me.

The time has now come to publish. The work has been done with diligence, and careful attention has been paid to documenting available records which are found both in the family narratives and more extensively in the bibliography.

The main purpose of the book is to present a scholarly approach to the researching of the Wartenbe lineage, including ancestors, descendants, and allied lines.

Acknowledgments

Full credit is given to David Russell Wartinbee, former Assemblyman of Wisconsin, for gathering and compiling the bulk of the Wartenbe family information, including names and birthdates of the 15 children of William Wartenbe and Catherine White. Encouraged by genealogical inquiry of his paternal aunts, Martha V. Wartenbe and Mary Ellen "Mame" Wartinbee Spence, D. Russell Wartinbee sought, correlated, and compared data with numerous Wartenbe descendants in his search for documentation of the Wartenbe lineage. He was diligent in seeking out descendants, both by correspondence and personal visits beginning in the early 1920's, as well as preserving old letters, documents, records, and photos. Without his dedication and perserverance, these records might have been lost forever. Sincere appreciation is also given his daughter, Ann Wartinbee Reeve of Wisconsin, who generously shared from her father's information and spent long hours proofreading Wartenbe material.

Also, special thanks goes to Rev. R. W. Windsor Spellman of Connecticut for his voracious appetite for genealogical research and his unending obsession in seeking documentation in the archives of Pennsylvania and New Jersey; the Yale University Library in Haven, Connecticut; and the Society of Genealogists in London, England. He documented many early Wartenbe references dating from the 1700's in Pennsylvania. As a trustee for the Godfrey Library in Middletown, Connecticut, his professional research and expertise has proved invaluable.

Gratitude and thanks go to my cousin, Lois Marie Fritz of Michigan, who invited me to the Leonhardt Family Reunion and gave me encouragement along the way. Also, thanks to her seven Leonhardt brothers and sisters, Russell G. Leonhart of Arizona, Charles Edwin Leonhart of Indiana, Helen Marguerite Maynard of Michigan, William Wayne Leonhardt of Indiana, Corwin Dean Leonhardt of Michigan, Esther Jean Miller of Ohio, and Robert Earl Leonhardt of Michigan.

Others who have shared large quantities of family information include: Glenna Akins of Texas, David Alan Babayco of California, Reba Bracewell of Minnesota, Charles Wartenbe Capp of Indiana, Robert Z. Carlisle III of Colorado, David C. Crankshaw of New York, Mark Denman of Illinois, Kryss Nickerson of Oklahoma, Jean Quackenbush of Washington, Alyce Wartenbe Rasnick of Washington, Jean Rigler of Hawaii, John Scoville of Indiana, and Lawrence A. Whartenby of New York. To each of these individuals, I am deeply indebted and grateful.

Explanation of Numbering System

Several years ago, while attending a National Genealogical Society convention in San Francisco, California, I met workshop speaker Carl Boyer 3rd, who had just written a book entitled How to Publish and Market Your Family History (see bibliography) which emphasized the need for a systems approach to publication. His format followed a form of the Modified Register system from The American Genealogist, which has also been used in this book. The following explanatory paragraphs have been taken from his book and used with his permission. They apply to this book, too, as the format is the same.

"This book can be easy to read if one remembers that it was not really meant to be read from beginning to end. The first step one should take is to find oneself or an ancestor in the index. There may be two or three different pages upon which a typical person can be found. One will be the listing as some couple's child. A second may be a primary listing with his or her own children. A third may well be an entry with one's spouse.

"Many will want to read about themselves or their most immediate ancestors first, following with the details of descendants. Then it is best to follow family lines backward, one at a time.

"This book gives a write-up of each family with the children of that couple numbered with small Roman numerals. Arabic numerals to the left side of the small Roman numbers in the lists of children refer to entries for these children as subject adults listed below. If an asterisk precedes a daughter's name in the list of children, additional information will be found under her spouse's surname.

"Further, it will often prove wise to doublecheck the index to see if female ancestors without an asterisk are not otherwise treated. As an effort has been made to list all the children of each couple, with their vital records and the names of their spouses, the ancestry of hundreds of people not treated as primary subjects can be traced."

An explanation of the supernumerals might help. M. Jane[2] Smith, picked at random from page 124, was a member of the second generation of the descendants of the particular ancestor of her family, namely William[1] Wartenbe. Upon her marriage, she was listed as M. Jane (Wartenbe) Smith, wife of Nathan[3], a member of the third generation of his Smith line. Her brother, John[2] Wartenbe, had a daughter, AGenes[3] Wartenbe, of the third generation of the Wartenbe line. These numerals are not footnote numbers, but generation numbers.

Each time a male ancestor's wife is found with a super-numeral following her given name, that name can also be followed back. For example, on page 9, the wife of Thomas Bird[1] Akins is Harriet Ruth[4] Sidman, who can be found as a child in the fourth generation in the Sidman line on page 118.

A word about the documentation used in the book. Where documentation is noted, [U:433], this means that the record can be found in Book U, page 433, of that particular land, probate, or vital record in the county previously mentioned.

Also, each underlined abbreviated documentation in brackets, i.e., [Flournoy's VA State Papers, X:163], can be found in the bibliography under the author's surname.

i. Son[2], d. 1882.
2. ii. Charles Capp, b. 12 July 1864; m. Liza "Lizzie" Swift, b. 1865.
iii. Edward, b. 31 Sept. 1858; d. 10 Oct. 1911.
iv. William.

2. CHARLES[2] "CHARLIE" CAPP was born in Lorain County, Ohio, on 12 July 1864 and died in 1939.

He married on 24 November 1889, Liza "Lizzie" Swift of Fayette, Fulton County, Ohio, who was born in 1865, daughter of Abigail, who was born in England on 6 November 1828 and died 9 August 1898.

For five years, Charles was a stock dealer and butcher in Morenci, Michigan. Then he moved to Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana, and worked in partnership with his brother in the meat business. He bought out his brother's interest and continued to run the business successfully for twenty years.

In 1903, he purchased the Madden Farm east of Butler, Indiana, and built a slaughter house and a large stock barn. He sold his meat market in 1908, but continued to buy and sell livestock. "He possesses splendid business qualifications, and by untiring perseverance and the exercise of sound judgment he is achieving a success in his enterprise" [Hist. of DeKalb Co., Indiana, 1914].

iv. Son, d. infant.
v. Son, d. infant.
vi. Daughter, d. infant.

3. MILLARD NELSON[3] "CAPPIE" CAPP was born 17 December 1893 and died in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 4 December 1967. He is buried in the Butler cemetery.

He married in Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 16 April 1916, Georgia Ellen[5] "Georgie" Wartenbe, who was born in Butler on 6 March 1898, daughter of Corwin Grant Wartenbe and Mary Ellen Joslin. She died in Auburn on 28 September 1982 and is buried in the same cemetery.

Cappie was a farmer. He raised and sold Bantam Cochin chickens for which he won many ribbons at the fairs. He also raised fox terriers, collies, goats, and lambs. For memberships in the Blue Lodge Chapter, Royal Arch, and Eastern Star organizations of the Forest Masonic Lodge #239 in Butler, he was awarded a 50-year pin.

For 20 years, he was a janitor for the Butler Methodist Church, and "at 4 a.m. on cold snowy Sunday mornings he would walk a mile to church to get the boiler of the furnace hot so the church would be warm for the 9:30 a.m. service" [Charles W. Capp]. His son also remembers that after Saturday night dates with his own wife-to-be his job was to throw a little more coal in the furnace in that dark and lonely church.

When her father sold the family farm in 1915, Georgia stayed in Butler to help with the house and care for Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Blaker. She married the following year.

During World War II, Georgia wrote to her sister: "I hope this war is over soon. I've tried to find ways to help the war effort -- gathered scrap iron and wire fencing, wastepaper, magazines, fat, aluminum (even cut the head of an iron bed off), and sewed nightgowns for the Red Cross."

She had a "green thumb" and always had a big garden saying "The heck with housework! I'd rather be outdoors working in my flowers." Three years after her husband died when she left the farm and moved to a smaller place, she transplanted many of the shrubs and plants to the new location. "I remember the good smells in the kitchen and mother teaching me how to cook and bake cookies... and my dad making up Peter Cottontail stories for me at bedtime...I wish I were a kid on the farm again" [Imogene Metcalf].

She was always active in church work, sang in the choir, served as Cradle Roll Superintendent in the Sunday School, belonged to the Ladies Aid Society, and was a leader of the Junior Missionary Society for teen-agers. Every year she cooked meals at the church's summer camp at Epworth Forest near Lake Webster, Indiana. "She was a true Christian", her son, Charles, said. She was baptized 13 September 1908 in the St. Joseph River, Indiana, with her sister, Virginia, into the membership of the Christian Church in Newville, Indiana.

She wrote poetry about her family, church, friends, and garden, and new words for old hymn tunes. One poem revealed how God changed her life...

Driftwood, just drifting along
Then tossed upon the sands; no good to anyone,
No beauty in it, just dull, dirty wood.
Many passed and saw it laying there--
It meant nothing to them.
Then someone picked it up, gazed upon it, studied it, and saw possibilities in it.
They cleaned it, sanded it, and polished it.
It was now a thing of beauty; it had come alive.
Just driftwood.

My life was like that driftwood, just drifting,
not really living.
Not amounting to very much.
Resentful, selfish, sinful.
God called me; I turned Him away.
Again He called and I turned Him away.
Once more He called; I could not deny
Him any longer.
I began seeking Him and He found me.
My life is no longer dull; He changed my life completely.
He cleansed me; He's sanding the corners of my life.
He's polishing me and making my life beautiful.
God uses me in many ways.
Just the touch of the Master's hand was all we needed--
The driftwood and I.

EMMONS

Data contributed by David Crankshaw, 74 Greenbush Street, Cortland, New York, 13045, and Katherine Kinney Brew of Ft. Worth, Texas. References: Mason's Emmons Gen.; Tyler's Emmons Gen.; Wyman's Charlestown Gen.; Woodruff's Residents of Litchfield, CT; New Eng. Hist. & Archives Rec.; and Way's Way Family.

The name "Emmons" is supposedly of Anglo-Saxon origin from the word "eam" meaning uncle. It is variously spelled Eman, Emans, Emins, Emmens, Ammens, Emmans, Emmin, and Emmon. These variations are found both in English history and in the United States. The first known reference to this family was mention made of the marriage of a Nicholas Emun to Cecelia Finch at St. Albans in 1559. Later, the name of Robert Emans is found in church records at Thorington, England. A John Emis served as church warden at Fench Lane in Cornhill.

The family of Emmons was well distributed through Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and New York by the mid-1700's.

1. WILLIAM[1] EMMONS was born in England about 1690-95 and died in 1763.

He married Sarah Way who died in 1735 in Litchfield, Connecticut.

He came to America in 1718 to Taunton, Massachusetts, and later moved to South Farms, Litchfield County, Connecticut, in 1733.

He was one of the founders of the first Episcopal Church at Litchfield on 5 November 1735, a record of which is in a sermon delivered in Trinity Church on 5 November 1845 by Gaal Jones, Rector, the occasion of the centennial celebration of that church.

Children, surname Emmons:

2. i. Woodruff[2], b. aboard ship, 1717/18; d. Aug. 1773 (1793?); m. 10 Mar. 1743, Esther Prentice (Prentiss).

v. Hannah, m. Silas Richmond.

vi. Mary.
vii. Lydia.

2. WOODRUFF[2] EMMONS, born aboard ship in 1717/18, died August 1773 (1793?).

He married on 10 March 1743, Esther Prentice (Prentiss), daughter of Valentine and Abigail Prentice.

He served in the French War then was a farmer in Cornwall, Connecticut. He also operated the Emmons Tavern before and after the Revolution, which was torn down in 1946.

Woodruff and Esther had four daughters and six sons. The sons served in the Revolutionary War.

3. ARTHUR[2] EMMONS was born 28 August 1721 (31?) and died at South Farms, Connecticut, on 26 August 1804, age 73.

He married Sarah, who was born in 1733 and died in South Farms in 8 January 1816.

Arthur and Sarah lived in Litchfield, Connecticut, in 1790 (US Census). He had crippled feet and could not stand erect.

"By the fall of 1755, the whole area north and south of the Blue Mountains was beset with Indian incursions and some kind of an established military organization became a necessity. It was about this time that Fort Everett became one of several frontier forts built along the Blue Mountains for the protection of the settlers. Things apparently went from bad to worse for, in February 1756, 42 men, women, and children fled to Bethelem from Lynn Township and the adjacent township of Albany in Berks County. On 5 February 1758, Sgt. E. Matthews and a scouting party were sent to 'Thomas Everet's plantation in Allemengel', later reporting that their party 'had lodged at Everet's' [PA Mag. of Hist. & Biog. 39:187 (1915)], and by 1764, Lt. GRAY

This article is included because of its historical and descriptive look at a probable secondary ancestor, John Gray, of the Revolutionary War.

1. JOHN[1] GRAY was born in Mt. Vernon, Virginia, on 6 January 1764. He died in Hiramsburg, Ohio, on 29 March 1868 and was buried in Brookfield, Morgan County (now Noble), Ohio.

He married (1) in Virginia, unknown. He married (2) in Virginia, unknown.

He married (3) probably Catherine[2] Wartenbe, who was born 28 May 1779, daughter of William Wartenbe and Catherine White. She died 6 July 1864 and was buried in Brookfield Township, Morgan County (now Noble), Ohio.

"John Gray, the last surviving soldier of the American Revolution, was born at Mount Vernon, Virginia, January 6, 1764, and died at Hiramsburg, Ohio, March 29, 1868, aged 104 years.

"His father fell at White Plains, and he, then only about 16 years of age, promptly volunteered, took up the musket that had fallen from his father's hands and was one of the 150 men on that dangerous but successful expedition of Mayor Ramsey. He was also at Yorktown at the final surrender which event occurred in his 18th year. He was mustered out at Richmond, Virginia, at the close of the war and returned to field labor near Mount Vernon, his first day's work after his muster out being performed for General Washington at Mount Vernon.

"Mr. Gray married twice in Virginia and once in Ohio. He survived his three wives and all his children, except one daughter, who has since died over 80 years of age, and with whom he resided in Noble County, Ohio, at the time of his death.

"In 1795, Mr. Gray left Mount Vernon and crossing the mountains settled at Grave Creek. Here he remained until Ohio was admitted to the Union [1803], when he removed to what is now Noble County. Mr. Gray was not illiterate; he learned to read and write before entering the Revolutionary army. In disposition he was quiet, kindly, and generous; a good Christian, having joined the Methodist church at 25 years of age, and was for 78 years a regular attendant.

"His means of support was earned by farm labor. When in his old age, poor and infirm, Congress granted him a pension of $500 per annum. The bill providing this was introduced in the House in 1866, by Hon. John A. Bingham. This tardy act of justice to the old hero was the result of efforts in his behalf by Hon. J.M. Dalzell, whose kindly interest and generous efforts to make comfortable and peaceful the last years of Mr. Gray are highly honorable to him.

"Mr. Dalzell has published a full and complete of John Gray's career and it is to this work that we are chiefly indebted for the sketch here given.

"On the occasion of Mr. Dalzell's last interview with John Gray, he asked if he were growing fatter than when he last saw him. 'Oh, no,' laughingly replied Mr. Gray, 'we old men don't fatten much on hog and hominy and the poor tobacco we get now-a-days.'

"Mr. Gray had used tobacco about 100 years and knew something of its virtues as a solace, for later in the interview, speaking of deprivations in the past, he said: 'I sometimes have had nothing else but a dog,' and musing a moment he added, 'a plug of tobacco, of course; for without a dog or tobacco I should feel lost.'

"This simple, inoffensive, kind-hearted old hero died of old age in his one-story, hewed-log house, near Hiramsburg, where he had resided the last 40 years or more of his life. His funeral services were held in a grove near his home with an audience of more than 1,000 people present and presided over by several clergymen, the principal speaker being Capt. Hoagland of the 9th Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, a minister of the Protestant Methodist Church.

"He lies buried some 250 yards north of the house in which he lived and died,in a family graveyard containing about 30 of his relatives and family connections. Near his remains lie those of two of his relatives, Samuel Halley and Gillespie David: the first fought under General Harrison at Fort Meigs during the War of 1812; the other died in the War of the Rebellion. Thus the heroes of three wars and of the same family lie side by side.

"John Gray's grave is marked by a plain stone some three feet high on which is inscribed: 'John Gray, died March 29, 1868, aged 104 years, 2 months, 23 days. The last of Washington's companions. The hoary head is a crown of glory' [Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio].

The photograph accompanying this article shows John Gray's tombstone next to another tombstone inscribed: "Catharine Gray, born May 28, 1779, died July 6, 1864, aged 85 ys, 1m, 8d."

JOSLIN

John Scoville, 4625 CR 79, Butler, Indiana, 46721, has been most helpful with this line.

There is speculation in this line that Clark Joslin, born in Ulster County, New York, in 1785, may possibly be the son of Clark Joslin, born ca. 1762, of Exeter, Washington County, Rhode Island [Wessler's The Jocelyn Family]. The latter had a brother, Freeborn Joslin, born in 1756, who was in Montgomery County, New York, during the time of the 1790 U.S. Census. This part of Montgomery County became Otsego County in 1791. Clark Joslin, born in 1785, according to the 1820 U.S. Census, lived in Otsego County. More research needs to be done in the records of Rhode Island and New York.

"The Joslin-Joslyn Family is extremely old. Its known history stretches back through the ages to a Norman Count of the 10th century living in France and married to a descendant of Charlemagne, whose ancestry extends back into the mists of time to a Trojan king.

"The spelling of the name is erratic in the records. It varies greatly from the French spelling, Josceline; and the English forms, Jocelyn, Joscelin, and Josslyn. All these forms are found in the Colonial records, with several more forms added.

"Thomas Josselyn, our emigrant ancestor from whom all the American Joslins come, came to America on the ship Increase on April 17, 1635, with his wife, Rebecca, and five children, Rebecca 18, Dorothy 11, Nathaniel 8, Elizabeth 6, and Mary one year. He was recorded on the ship's list as 'Thomas Jostlin'. He is recorded in early records as Joslin, and in Hingham, Massachusetts, as Josselyn. In a Lancaster record, his name is spelled Jocelyn, which is probably the proper spelling. He is listed in the Colonial records as a 'Husbandman and pioneer'; as a man of 'business ability and generous disposition' [Wessler's The Jocelyn Family].

1. CLARK[1] JOSLIN, SR. was born in Ulster County, New York [1855 NYS Census], ca. 1785 [tomb.] and died in Newville, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 29 October 1869 [tomb.]. He was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery there.

He married in Montgomery County, New York, on July 1811 [Wentworth's The Wentworth Gen., 2:262], Margaret Wooster of Bartell [Bartlett, Carroll Co.?], New Hampshire, who was born ca. 1787 [tomb.], daughter of John Wooster. She died in Newville, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 1 May 1871 and was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery. She married (1) John Wentworth.

Clark lived in Montgomery County, New York [1810 U.S. Census], and continued to live there after his marriage.

Clark and Margaret appeared in the 1820 U.S. Census in Otsego County, New York, and moved to Cortland County, New York, in 1822.

In 1860, their farm land adjoined the farm of their son, Clark, and daughter-in-law, Mary Victoria.

Clark and Margaret then moved to Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana.

Children, born Montgomery County, New York, surname Joslin:

i. Potter[2], b. 1819; m. Sarah A. Cobb, b. Chenango Co., NY, 1838.

2. ii. Clark, Jr., b. 29 Apr. 1821; m. Mary Victoria Cotton.

iii. Olive, b. prob. Cortland Co., NY, prob. 14 Oct. 1825; d. 18 Feb. 1837, bur. Potter Hill Cem., Cortland Co., NY.

2. CLARK[2] JOSLIN, JR., was born in Montgomery County, New York, on 29 April 1821. He died in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 15 October 1873 and was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery there.

He married probably in New York on 21 March 1855, Mary Victoria[3] Cotton, who was born in Taylor Township, Cortland County, New York, on 13 February 1838, daughter of Lorenzo D. Cotton and Mary L. Robbins. She died in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 20 December 1889 and was buried in the same cemetery. She married (2) on 13 February 1878, Erastus A. Wanamaker.

In 1831, Clark purchased Lot 69 for $307.78 in Cortland County, New York, from Elisha Williams; and in 1842 he bought property in the same county from his father, Clark Joslin, Sr. [6:221].

He was a farmer in Cortland County known for dairy products and cheeses.

In 1869, they came to DeKalb County, Indiana, and bought 80 acres in Section 30, Stafford Township.

She was a school teacher.

Children, born Taylor Township, Cortland County, New York, surname Joslin:

* i. Hattie J.[3], b. 3 Feb. 1858; m. Warren Edward Scoville.

* ii. Mary Ellen, b. 21 June 1860; m. Corwin Grant Wartenbe.

Child, surname Mangold, but took surname Spellman:
1. Robert Garland Windsor[2], born in Cleveland, Ohio, on 21 September 1921. Brought up from birth by grandparents, George Wartenbe and Grace (Wilcox) Spellman (and began using their surname ca. 1927). A resident of Cleveland Heights from 1926, he graduated from Heights High School in 1939, and later attended Wheaton College, Illinois. In 1946, he graduated from the University of Saskatchewan with a BA degree, and Emmanuel College now Emmanuel and St. Chad, Saskatoon, with a L.Th. degree.

Made Deacon, Church of England, in Canada on 30 May 1946 and began to serve in Calgary, Alberta, as curate in Christ Church with St. Mark's and St. George's; then returned to Cleveland to do graduate work in French at Western Reserve University in 1947-48. Was ordained Priest at the Episcopal Church in Hartford, Connecticut, on 16 June 1950. Served next as curate at the Holy Trinity Church, Middletown, Connecticut, in 1948-51, and again as curate at St. Stephen's, Pittsfield, Massachusetts, in 1951-56.

At this point, he took up a new challenge, the rebuilding of an overseas parish, the Church of the Ascension, in Munich, Germany, as rector of a congregation largely composed of members of American and English diplomatic corps and military personnel, along with work among students as supervising chaplain of the American Church Center. Returning to the United States, he next became French master and functioned as assistant chaplain at Hoosac School, Hoosick, New York, for a brief period in 1960, after which he became curate at St. Thomas' Church, New Haven, Connecticut, which, with the exception of a five-year interval (1970-75) spent in Maryland and at Litchfield, Connecticut, was to be his occupation and home until his retirement in the fall of 1986.

Upon returning to New Haven in 1975, he also became chaplain and religious education instructor in St. Thomas' Day School, a facility providing the very best in educational opportunities for 150 children from Junior Kindergarten through the 6th grade. Other than these children entrusted to his spiritual care, he has no children and has never married.

MOFFITT

1. JOHN ANDREW[1] MOFFITT was born in Edgar County, Illinois, on 9 January 1856, son of James W. Moffitt and Eliza Eleanor Smith. He died at age 71 in Sacramento, Sacramento County, California, on 2 November 1927, and was buried there in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

He married (1) in 1880 Isabell Ann "Belle" Moffitt, who died in Winigan, Sullivan County, Missouri, 20 January 1888 [tomb.] and was buried there in the Price Cemetery. She was the daughter of John and Esther Moffitt.

He married (2) in Pendleton, Umatilla County, Oregon, on 13 August 1895, Mabel Lena Walter, who was born in Hastings, Dakota County, Minnesota, on 28 January 1867, daughter of Clark Walter and Hannah Bethiah Kinsey. She died in Sacramento, Sacramento County, California, on 17 June 1953 and was buried in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

John was raised on a 1,095-acre farm in Sullivan County, Missouri, where he and his father planted the crops and cared for the pigs, horses, and cows.

He and "Belle" (his cousin) raised a family and were members of the Christian Church. However, she died in 1888, at the age of 36, leaving John and their five motherless children ranging in age from 10 months to 7 years of age.

He decided to choose a career other than farming. Leaving his children in the care of his aunts and uncles, he enrolled in medical school for four years in St. Louis, Missouri, and became a physician and surgeon. Then, he headed west to the University of California at Berkeley, California, to complete a one-year post graduate course in medicine.

In 1895, he set up medical practice in Oregon and took in patients. Mabel Walter sought medical aid after a fall from a horse. Soon after, they were married; he was 39 and she was 28 [Marr. rec., Umatilla Co., OR].

The "Doctor" delivered all of his children and visited patients in his horse and buggy carrying his black medicine bag with him.

He was lodge physician for the Aerie of Eagles, physician for Companions of the Forest, member of the Masonic Lodge in Marysville, California, and a Democrat.

Before 1910, he moved his family to Sacramento and opened up his practice on K Street. His business card read: "Dr. J. A. Moffitt, Specialist, Kidney, Bladder, and Urinary Diseases, specific blood and nervous diseases, 504½ K Street, Sacramento, Cal., Phone Main 4219-J. Hours: 9-12 am, 2-5 pm, Sundays 9-12 am, evenings by appointment."

Mabel was baptized in 1877 in the St. Patrick's Church in Walla Walla, Washington. She crossed the plains that year in a covered wagon with her parents at the age of 10 years traversing the route between Minnesota to Athena, Oregon. She taught school when she was 17 years old and was of a strong Catholic faith. She played the piano, painted china, and did needlework.

Children, by first wife, born in Sullivan County, Missouri, surname Moffitt:

Sacramento, 9 Apr. 1934, Frances Maurine Moore, b. 13 Aug. 1910; d. 5 Mar. 1984, dau. of William Jefferson Moore and Frances Mabel Griffin. Philip was an employee of Pacific Telephone, and Maurine was a stenographer and bookkeeper.

2. CLETUS CLARK[2] MOFFITT was born in Lewiston, Nez Perce County, Idaho, on 13 February 1899 and was baptized there in the Church of St. Stanislaus on 2 July 1899 [Bap. rec.].

He married in Sacramento, Sacramento County, California, on 15 June 1925 [Mar. rec.], Esther Joslyn[5]

Wartenbe, who was born in Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 5 March 1902 [Bir. rec.], daughter of Corwin Grant Wartenbe and Mary Ellen Joslin. She died in Sacramento on 15 May 1979 [Death rec.] and is buried in East Lawn Sierra Hills Cemetery. They lived in Sacramento.

In his early years, he sold Liberty Magazines, and delivered newspapers, telegrams, and groceries. In 1918, he enlisted in the U.S. Army Signal Corps attending a school for electrical workers. He was discharged after three months of study because World War I ended. He reenlisted the following year in the U.S. Army Air Corps at Mather Field, California, where he installed radio transmitters on aircraft. In 1933, he joined the 184th Infantry of the National Guard.

In 1920, he became a clerk for W.P. Fuller and Company (a paint store) for $120 a month, and 17 years later (1937) he changed vocations and worked for the U.S. Government, Post Office Department, serving as senior rural mail carrier until his retirement in 1965.

He was active in civic, fraternal, and religious groups including the Schubert Club singing group, National Association of Letter Carriers, Veterans of World War I, and the American Legion. He was a member of the Legion's Posts#61, #391, and #392 in Sacramento since 1920 and played the mellowphone in the Legion band for several years. Also, he was a member of the Masonic Capital City Lodge #499 and served as Worthy Patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, Rainbow Chapter #385, in 1965 and 1972, the latter year being when Esther served as his Worthy Matron. They both were members of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, Palm Shrine #32. He also taught the adult Sunday School class, was a pianist, choir director, and elder in the Christian churches in Sacramento.

Esther was born on her parents' farm, "Maple Grove Place", on Section 29 on the banks of the St. Joseph River in DeKalb County, Indiana. The property contained a large farmhouse, milkhouse, woodshed, grainery with corncribs, barn, surrey storage building, sugar house used for making maple syrup, and ice house for storing winter-cut ice in the summertime.

She was class salutorian at her high school graduation in Fremont, Indiana, in 1921. She sang the lead role of Miss Cherry Blossom in the school musical and played the saxophone in the school band. At age 19 in the same year, she came to California with her father and his friend in a 1912 Cadillac. She graduated from San Jose State Teachers College in San Jose, California, in 1924, paying her own way by "washing dishes and working in the canneries." She earned a Kindergarten-Primary teaching degree in college and soon taught elementary grade children at Pacific School in Sacramento from 1924-26.

She served as president of the Parent Teachers Association at Coloma Elementary School in Sacramento in 1940, and membership doubled that year.

From 1942-45, she was employed as a supply clerk at McClellan Air Force Base in Sacramento. In 1947, she became a Senior Account Clerk at a salary of $458 per month supervising five clerks in the Department of Social Welfare, State of California, until her retirement in 1965.

In church activities, she was a Sunday School teacher of junior high girls, president of the Beta Mothers Study Group, a deaconess, and prayer and worship chairman of the Christian Woman's Fellowship. They were both active members of the First Christian Church, Fruitridge Christian Church, and Arden Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Sacramento. She said, "The most important thing is that I have always had God in my life."

Box 701978, Tulsa, Oklahoma, 74170; and Debbe Brightbill, 4021 Hughes Circle, Norman, Oklahoma, 73072.

1. FRANCIS BENJAMIN[1] "FRANK" NICKERSON was born on 1 December 1877, son of James Nickerson, who died ca. 1886. Frank died in Amarillo, Texas, on 18 May 1963.

He married on 26 October 1910, Alice Victoria[5] "Allie" Wartenbe, who was born in Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 11 April 1888, daughter of Corwin Grant Wartenbe and Mary Ellen Joslin. She died in Wichita Falls, Texas, on Easter Sunday, 25 April 1943, and is buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery in Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana.

He lived with an aunt and uncle as his mother was unable to support him and his three sisters. He worked for his keep and left in his teens to earn a living with odd jobs. He put himself through Bible College in Angola, Indiana, supporting himself by photography and delivering milk in a horse and buggy.

He served as YMCA secretary and ministered to the miners in Westbourne, Tennessee, and Widen, West Virginia.

He pastored three churches in Angola, Indiana, and nearby areas. Because of his son's asthma, the family moved to Prescott and Flagstaff, Arizona, where he served churches there. Other pastorates included Brownwood, Texas; Hobbs, New Mexico; and Olney, Texas. After his wife's death, he moved to Deer Lodge, Montana, then back to Texas, where he pastored in Wink until his retirement. He then lived with his son and family in Liberal, Kansas, and spent his last years in the Julian Bivins Christian Church Retired Ministers Home in Amarillo, Texas.

Allie, "a special jewel in God's sight -- aglow with the Spirit of God" (Kryss Nickerson), was active in church work, as noted in a newspaper article of 1926: "A large and attentive audience greeted Mrs. Nickerson last Lord's Day as she brought a beautiful message speaking on the Trinity: Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit. Many instructive and deeply spiritual thoughts she brought to us while reading and commenting on John 14, closing with a heart to heart talk, inspiring any one who cares to live a Christian life".

Children, surname Nickerson:

i. Son, d. infant.
ii. Son, d. infant.
iii. Son, d. infant.
2. iv. Francis Corwin[2], b. 3 July 1920; m. Cressie Gae Stevenson.
v. Daughter, d. infant.

2. FRANCIS CORWIN[2] "NICK" NICKERSON was born 3 July 1920 and died 26 August 1986.

He married at the Christian Church in Deer Lodge, Montana, on 3 June 1945, Cressie Gae "Kryss" Stevenson, who was born in Omaha, Nebraska, 15 February 1927, daughter of James F. Stevenson and his wife, Hazel Lenore Thompson. James F. Stevenson was born in La Crosse, Kansas, on 16 May 1899, died in Deer Lodge, Montana, on 25 November 1968, buried in the Powell Cemetery there, son of John Calvin Stevenson, Sr., born in Steubenville (Jefferson City), Ohio, on 31 March 1850, died Simla, Colorado, on 2 August 1921, married Gaynor City, Missouri, 20 December 1876, Fannie Belle Smith, born Galesburg (Knox City), Illinois, 6 October 1860, died Deer Lodge, Montana, 18 January 1932. Nick attended grade school in Prescott and Flagstaff, Arizona, and graduated from high school in Hobbs, New Mexico. In 1943, he graduated from Phillips University, Enid, Oklahoma, with a AB degree and completed one year of his BD degree. He planned to continue college after helping his father move to Deer Lodge, Montana, however, "he fell madly in love with an auburn-brownette Irish gal with blue eyes whose knees turned to jello when she saw the handsomest six-foot blonde, slender being of the opposite species, come down the stairs to choir practice on June 3, 1944, at 7:30 p.m., that she had ever laid eyes on. The only thing to do was get married four hours less than one year later at 3:30 p.m. on June 3, 1945" (Kryss Nickerson).

After his marriage, Nick accepted pastorates in Helena, Montana; Enid, Oklahoma; Haskell, Texas; Midland, Texas; Monahans, Texas; and Liberal, Kansas. They founded and operated a children's home called "Hope Haven, Inc." located five miles from Liberal, Kansas, which operated for 10 years caring for 67 children. They relocated to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where they continued to "serve humanity through faith work" through ministries with the Oral Roberts Prayer Tower for six and a half years. Also, Nick was a live-in parent caring for nine teenage boys at the Tulsa Boys Home. In 1983, Kryss toured Nigeria and Ghana, Africa.

WANAMAKER

Permission to use this data was granted by Jean Gurney Rigler, 2117 Puualii Place, Honolulu, Hawaii, 96822, compiler of Wannemacher/Wanamaker Families of Pennsylvania, A Genealogical Dictionary. The information on Hans Johannes Wannemacher was taken from Burgert's Eighteenth Century Emigrants. The data on Samuel E. Wanamaker was gathered by the compiler.

This family was found early in the area known as the Northern Kraichgau, rolling cultivated uplands of Baden-Wurttemburg (state), between the Rhine and Neckar River, now Western Germany. Although the area did not fall strictly within the Palatinate, the inhabitants were generally considered Palatines. The small community of Asbach, Baden (Obrigheim), was located about fifteen miles east of the city of Heidelburg.

1. HANS JOHANNES[1] WANNEMACHER (Reformed) and Maria Magdalena (Lutheran) were recorded in the Asbach Reformed Church Book, Asbach, Germany, family register dated 1709 at the beginning of the church book.

Children, from the Asbach Reformed Church Book, surname Wannemacher:

2. i. Hans Bernhard[2], (Reformed), b. ca. 1698; m. (1) 2 Feb. 1724, Maria Barbara Kuch, m. (2) prob. in PA, Catharina.
   ii. Hans Conrad, (Reformed), b. ca. Dec. 1701; immigrant to PA prior to 1737; m. Maria Barbara.
   iii. Martin, (Reformed).
   iv. Ann Margret, bap. Asbach, 10 Mar. 1712; m. Joh. George Kumpff.

2. HANS BERNHARD[2] WANNEMACHER was born in Germany ca. 1698.

He married (1) 2 February 1724, Maria Barbara Kuch, daughter of Georg Kuch of Asbach (Asbach Reformed Church Book, Asbach, Germany). (Undocumented family tradition indicates he married Anna Lorapin, perhaps Lohr/Lorah).

He married (2) probably in Pennsylvania, Catharina.

He arrived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the ship Elizabeth on 30 October 1738, age 40 years. He repeated and subscribed to the Oaths of Allegiance and Abjuration [Strassburger's PA German Pioneers, p. 243].

He appeared on the first list of taxables in 1752 in Colebrookdale Township, Berks County, Pennsylvania, just a few miles from Upper Hanover Township [Montgomery's Hist. and Biog. Annuals of Berks Co., PA].

In 1759 or 1760, he moved to Lynn Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, where he was taxed 8 pounds. On 8 September 1762, he was naturalized [Guiseppi's Naturalizations, p. 82]. The 1766 tax list for Lynn Township showed Bernhard with 21 acres of cleared land, plus 68 acres of woodland.

He was a joiner.

Children, first six by first wife (Asbach Reformed Church Book), surname Wannemacher:

i. Anna[3], b. 20 Nov. 1724.
3. ii. Marx Adam, b. 6 Aug? 1726; m. Catharina.
iii. Joanna Barbara, b. 11 May 1728.
iv. Anna Magdalena, b. 6 Apr. 1732.
v. Joh. Adam, b. 25 May 1733.
vi. Joh. Peter Frederick, b. 2 July 1735.
vii. Catherina, b. 16 Feb. 1742 [tomb.]; m. 14 Oct. 1760, Casper Bucher.
viii. Jacob, b. 14 Oct. 1745, prob. unnamed son bap. 27 Oct. 1745, New Goshenhoppen Church, Upper Hanover Twp., Montgomery Co., PA; m. perhaps Elizabeth Stahl(in) (family rec.)
ix. Dorothea, perhaps, single in 1766 [Schumacher's Bap. Reg.], when sponsoring Jurg Daniel Wannemacher, son of Marx.
x. Elizabetha, perhaps, single in 1767; m. perhaps Johann Lucas Delange [Schumacher's Bap. Reg.].
xi. Anna Catherine, bap. 14 July 1751.
xii. Johann Philip, b. 25 Sept. 1754; bap. 24 Nov. 1754; m. Barbara.
xiii. John Casper, bap. 11 Mar. 1758; m. Mary, perhaps Reger.

3. MARX ADAM[3] "MARCUS" WANNEMACHER was born 6 Aug.? 1726 in Germany and died shortly before 22 March 1778.

He was married in the New Goshenhoppen Church, Upper Hanover Township, now Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, by Rev. George Michael Weiss about 1753 [mar. rec.], but his wife's name was not stated [Hinke's Church Rec.].

He probably arrived in Philadelphia on the ship Elizabeth on 30 October 1738 with his father, and because he was under the age of 16 was not recorded on passenger lists or required to take the oaths.

He settled in Lynn Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, before 1760 when his son, Philip Jacob, was baptized by Rev. Daniel Schumacher.

He was naturalized on 8 September 1762 [Guiseppi's Naturalizations, p. 82] and took the Oath of Allegiance on 30 August 1777.

He appeared on the Lynn County tax lists in 1761 and was taxed 8 pounds [Easton P.L., Easton, PA]. He was also taxed in 1766 in the same county on 25 acres of cleared land, plus 75 acres of woodland. He was a yeoman (farmer).

He died intestate leaving a widow, Catharina, and four children. An inventory of his estate, administered by Catharina and Jacob Wannemacher, on 30 March 1778, included household items, farm tools, several mares and goats, and over a dozen cows and calves, 11 sheep, 12 swine, a still, and a Bible [Easton CH, file #843).

On 22 March 1781, Jacob Wannemacher, eldest son, petitioned for the division of his father's land among the four children (not named), consisting of two tracts of land, about 180 acres bounded by land of Jacob Wannemacher, Sr., and others. On 21 June 1781, the inquest determined that the land, valued at 900 pounds, could not be divided without spoiling the whole, so eldest son, Jacob, was allowed to buy their shares [Easton Orphan's Court, 1781, p. 327, 328].

Catharina left a will naming her three sons, Jacob, Philip, and Daniel, but not her fourth child who shared the settlement of Marx's estate in 1781 [Easton CH, file #2497].

Children, surname Wannemacher:

i. Joh. Jacob[4], b. 28 Mar. 1754 [tomb.], bap. Tohickon Ref. Church, Bedminster Twp., Bucks Co., PA, 14 Apr. 1754; m. Anna Maria.

ii. Child, alive in June 1781 petition for land division, but not named in mother's will of Sept. 1808.

iii. Philip Jacob, b. 16 June 1760 [tomb.], bap. 31 Aug. 1760 [Schumacher's Bap. Reg.]; m. Catherine Elizabeth Schitz.

4. iv. Jurg Daniel, b. 31 Aug. 1766, bap. 12 Oct. 1766 [Schumacher's Bap. Reg.]; m. Susannah Everett.

4. JURG DANIEL[4] WANNEMACHER was born in Lynn Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, on 31 August 1766, and baptized on 12 October 1766 by Rev. Daniel Schumacher [Schumacher's Bap. Reg.].

He married about 1786, Susannah Everett[3], daughter of Thomas Everett and Catherine (perhaps Albrecht) of Lynn Township [PA Gen. Mag., 28:147]. She died in Canfield, Trumbull County, Ohio, on 25 February 1822. Jackson Truesdale's Scraps of History indicates that Martin Whitzell's widow married Daniel Wannemacher and moved to Liberty. After he died, she returned to Canfield and died in 1819. Rev. Thomas Tobbins on 25 February 1822 noted that "widow Wanemacher, formerly Whitzell, was buried at Dutch Church; died of consumption" [Cong. Ch. Rec., Canfield, OH]. The date of 1822 seems more authentic than 1819 in view of the 1800 US Census for Canfield Township, Trumbull County, Ohio, which listed a Cocinna or Corinna Wannemacher, female, 45 and up, plus one female, age 16-26.

He moved from Lynn Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, to Trumbull County, Ohio, where he owned land in Liberty Township on 25 July 1807 [1:192] and paid taxes in 1809 and 1810. In 1807, he was appointed appraiser of Samuel Everett's estate, Susannah's brother [prob. rec.].

He served in the Revolutionary War in the Northampton County Militia, Sixth Company, First Battalion, and on 3 May 1784 was listed as second class, and on 5 May 1785 as a fifer [PA Archives VI:3:748,752].

Daniel died before 18 June 1816, at which time Conrad Miller was appointed guardian to Daniel, Jr., until age 21, and Elizabeth, until age 18; Christian Wannemacher was appointed guardian of his sister, Susannah, until age 18; and Philip Wannemacher was appointed guardian of his brother Samuel, until age 14, and his sister, Sarah, until age 12 [Trumbull Co., OH, Common Pleas Journal 2:107]. His estate was administered 25 April 1817 by his sons, Philip and Christian.

Children, not in order, surname Wannemacher:

i. Philip[5], b. Lynn Twp., ca. 1787; m. Magdalena Everett, dau. of Samuel Everett.

ii. Christian, b. ca. 23 Apr. 1789; m. (1) Catherine "Katy" Fusselman, m. (2) Pamelia (St. John) Barnes.

iii. Jacob, b. 17 Sept. 1793, bap. Jerusalem Luth. & Ref. Church, Albany Twp., Berks Co., PA, 3 Nov. 1793; m. Elizabeth "Betsy" Sechler.

iv. John, b. perhaps ca. 1794-95; m. Mary "Polly" Sauer.

v. Jonas, b. 28 Mar. 1796, bap. (same church as iii), 19 June 1796; m. Trumbull Co., OH, 2 Sept. 1820, Esther Everett, dau. of Samuel Everett [mar. rec.].

vi. Daniel, b. ca. 1798; m. Sarah "Sally" Dustman.
vii. Elizabeth "Betsy", m. 2 Sept. 1820, Daniel Everett [mar. rec.], a double wedding with v.
viii. Susannah.
ix. Mary "Polly", b. ca. 1799; d. 23 June 1833, Weathersfield Twp., Trumbull Co., OH [obit]; m. Trumbull Co., OH, 18 Nov. 1817, Peter Riehl (Reel) [mar. rec.].
5. x. Samuel E., b. 19 Feb. 1804; m. (1) Maria Barbara Hake, m. (2) Minerva B. Williams.
xi. Sarah.

5. SAMUEL E.[5] WANAMAKER was born near Carmichaels, Greene County, Pennsylvania, on 19 February 1804 [tomb.] and was baptized in 1837 at age 33. His parents probably were enroute from Lynn Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, where they settled before 1807, to Trumbull County, Ohio. He died in DeKalb County, Indiana, on 29 March 1880.

He married (1) in Trumbull County, Ohio, on 28 November 1825, Maria Barbara Hake, also called Mary Barbara, Maria B., and Mary B., who was born ca. 1803 in Pennsylvania, perhaps Franklin County, daughter of Christian Hake (Hock). She died on 4 July 1842 at age 39 and was buried in the Union Cemetery, Girard, Liberty Township, Trumbull County, Ohio [cem. rec.]. They lived in Howland and Weathersfield townships in Trumbull County.

He married (2) in Trumbull County on 15 January 1843 [4:19], Minerva B. Williams, who was born 1813/14, daughter of Uriah Williams and Jemima Laviday [Memorial to Pioneer Women of West. Res.] She died in DeKalb County, Indiana, on 5 June 1883, age 69.

Samuel and Minerva moved from Trumbull County, Ohio, to DeKalb County, Indiana, in 1842 and settled on Section 29 in Stafford Township where his older brother, Christian, had settled a few years before. The area became known as "the Wanamaker Settlement" and/or "Wanamaker's Corners".

Samuel's granddaughter, Alzein M. (Reynolds) Good, wrote the following description of her grandparents as she remembered them in 1883, when she was 10 years old:

"Rev. Samuel Wanamaker and his wife, Minerva, were early pioneers of Indiana who traveled from Trumbull County, Ohio, to DeKalb County, Indiana, in a covered wagon over boggy roads taking two weeks to cover this short distance (about 225 miles).

"This was the age of the candle, the spinning wheel, the weaving and making of garments by hand. Fruit and meat were dried. Land had to be cleared of timber, and farming was laborious. Wheat was cut with a cradle, grass with a scythe, and corn was planted by hand.

"We enter Grandfather Wanamaker's modest home. We find the deep wide fireplace; on the great crane hangs the old iron teakettle and the great iron pot, where cooking was done. The huge shovel and tongs stand sentinel in either corner, while the great andirons wait for the huge back log. Over the fireplace stands the trusty rifle. To the left stands the old spinning wheel and the old fashioned loom. Strings of drying apples and piles of drying pumpkins and dried beef are overhead.

"On a shelf are the old blue china and pewter. On a table lies the old Bible much used and containing family records, also the photo album. A bench, a high boy, and a few chairs stand stiffly against the wall. A shelf for the old clock, a plaster of paris squirrel, and a luster pitcher on each side, while a small mirror with a painted picture on glass hangs beside the shelf. The tall grandfather clock was left standing in the home in Ohio, because there was no room in the covered wagon.

"In a corner stands the old four-poster bed and under it the trundle bed. Grandfather's red flannel nightcap hangs on one of the bed posts. His wooden fiddleback rocker and Grandmother's small high spindle back rocker stand together. There were tallow candles for light.

"Outside, we find the old-fashioned garden, the cool milk house with crocks of sweet milk and a wooden dasher churn. An open windlass well with a wooden bucket on chains to be lowered for an ice cold drink is nearby. At the left stood Grandfather's carpenter shop, where we loved to play and pin shavings on our heads for curls and eat Spitzenberg apples from a tree nearby.

"And, across the road stood the little Christian church where Grandfather was the minister."

Samuel bought property in DeKalb County, Indiana, from H. Fusselman in 1842 [C:13]. In May 1846, he added 30 acres purchased from his brother, Christian Wannemaker [E:163]. One month later, he sold Henry Fusselman the right to dig and keep a mill race open on his property [D:378]. In June 1846, Samuel Wanamaker sold privileges on his property to Henry Fusselman, perhaps for rental purposes. In May of the same year, he again bought property from his brother, Christian Wannemaker.

In 1851, a church meeting was held in Newville, Indiana, by brethren Hadsell and Wanamaker; 11 were received by confession and immersion, and a church was organized of 21 members. The next year, Bro. Wanamaker held a two-day meeting, immersed four, and organized a small congregation three miles from Auburn, Indiana [Christian Record].

Samuel owned a small leatherbound book (in the possession of the compiler) entitled "Psalms, Hymns, and Spiritual Songs" compiled by Alexander Campbell dated 1861, which was used by the early Disciples of Christ in the Christian Church.

His obituary in the Christian Standard in 1880 states: "For many years of his life he was actively engaged as a preacher of the gospel and has been known as a faithful follower of Jesus. Many are the disciples in northeastern Indiana who will drop a sympathizing tear when they learn of his death and remember his words of wisdom in years agone. Bro. Wanamaker, having buried two children, leaves four and a widow to mourn their loss."

Samuel was a farmer, carpenter, and a preacher in the Restoration movement; he was called "Elder" and "Reverend". He also served as a Justice of the Peace in Stafford Township.

Children, by first wife, born in Trumbull County, Ohio, surname Wanamaker:

i. Charles H.[6], b. 14 June 1827 [tomb.]; d. 1 Jan. 1879, bur. Wartenbe Cem., DeKalb Co., IN; m. Mary, b. OH, ca. 1832.

WARTENBE

Extensive research was done in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; New Jersey, the Yale University Library in New Haven, Connecticut; and the Society of Genealogists in London, England; by Rev. R.G. Windsor Spellman, 281 Ridge Road, 2-B, Wethersfield, Connecticut, 06109-1047, who contributed the early historical data on the Wartenbe's. Based upon his research, he is reasonably sure the Wartenbe family came originally from Leicestershire, England, and feels that the Philadelphia Wartnaby's of the 1790 census were related closely.

Ann Elizabeth Wartinbee Reeve, 2320 S. Graylog Lane, New Berlin, Wisconsin, 53151, contributed the data of her father, David Russell Wartinbee, giving names and birthplaces of William Wartenbe's and Catherine White's 15 children. Also, a land record [Muskingum County, Ohio, Book 1, page 669] was found listing the heirs of William Wartenbe as follows: Catharine Myton, Mary Wartenbe and Edward Halley, Sarah Wartenbe and Samuel Halley of Morgan County, Ohio, Ann Wartenbe and James Watson, Elizabeth Wartenbe and Solomon Johnson, Jane Wartenbe and Nathan Smith, Mercy Wartenbe and James Crane, and Susannah Wartenbe and Daniel Comstock.

Another contributor was Lawrence A. Whartenby, 11 Galloway Lane, Valhalla, New York, 10595, who researches pre-Revolutionary Wartenbe's.

ENGLAND

Research points to the probable connection of the 16th to 18th century Wartenbie/Wartnaby families who lived in Wartnaby, county of Leicester, England (less than 100 miles north of London) to the 20th century Wartenbe's.

John Wartinbie appeared in Great Dalby near the village of Wartnaby, England, in 1672, and his genealogy covers 12 generations to the year 1875. The Christian names in a direct line include six John's, five William's, and two Thomas's, who lived in or near the Leicester area. This family carried the Arms of Wartnaby granted by England's College of Arms [Fletcher's Leics. Ped. & Royal Descent], [Burke's Gen. & Her. Hist. of the Landed Gentry]:

> Description: Azure, on a chevron between three lions passant or, collared of the first, a lily slipped ppr., between two mullets of six points of the field.
> Crest: A lion's head erased or, gorged with a collar azure, thereon two mullets of six points gold, in the mouth a lily slipped ppr.
> Motto: Maneo, non fugio. (I remain, I do not flee.)
> Seat: Clipston, near Market Harborough, Leicester, England.

The same Christian names associated with the Wartenbe's in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and the New Jersey areas in the 1700's are found among those living today in the English villages of Saxby, Ab Kettelby, Old Dalby, Asfordby, and Wartnaby. These place names are easily recognizable, wherever they end with the syllable "by", which is the Danish word for "settlement", reflecting the early Danish occupation of England. The Wartenbe surname consists of two parts: "worcten" (hill) and "by" (settlement). Place names often became the origin of surnames [Hassall's Hist. Through Surnames].

It is possible that our line of Wartenbe's emigrated to America from the county of Leicester, England, in the early 1700's, although no evidence has been found. If this were true, however, it might account in part for the proliferation of stories concerning ancestors of some wealth, for example, the supposed relationship to the Rothschild family, to Aneke Jans of the early Dutch period in New Amsterdam, and the importance to the Wartenbe's of the land on which New York City's Trinity Church was built and the Philadelphia land on which the Saturday Evening Post building was erected. None of these claims appear to be substantiated. As a place name, a Wartnaby Castle does exist, however, near the village of Wartnaby which probably at one time was not much more than a manor or country house, but if this were the same family, it would hardly be strange if tales of handsome origins did not indeed have some substance in fact.

In 1086, William the Conqueror recorded the names of the landowners and tenants in the Domesday Survey of England to ascertain the extent and value of hie newly acquired lands. Two variations of the Wartenbe surname which appear in the Domesday Book are "Worcnodebie" and "Wordebi". The following variations of the surname also appeared in England between the 13th and 17th centuries [Fletcher's Leics. Ped. & Royal Descent]:

1200 Sir Philip de Wasteneis, a Knight Templar, King John, is named in a deed.

1272 John de Wartnochebi, priest, was appointed vicar of Tilton by the Prior and Convent of Laund.

1283 Robert de Worsteneis, a Knight Templar, occurs in a deed.

1429 John de Worcenabye was Knight Commander of the Hospitallers or Knights of St. John at Rothley.

1597 William Wortonbye, gentleman of Wortonbye, was a freeholder and had three sons, Robert, Thomas, and William, as appears by his will.

1639 Admon. [sic] to John Wartnaby, of Wartnaby, was granted by the Leicester Court to Lucy, his widow, on 20 August.

1672 Barnaby Wartnaby had lands at Howes and elsewhere which he directed to be sold by his will dated 30 October.

AMERICA

Emigrants arriving in the America's in the 1600's included: (1) Richard Wartumbee, age 21, who landed at Barbados in 1635 [Hotten's Orig. Hist. of Persons], and (2) Lydia Warnby, age 42?, who arrived in Maryland in 1682 [PMHB, "A Partial List of Families who Resided in Bucks Co., PA, prior to 1687, 9:3:223].

Although many of the early Wartenbe records were found in Pennsylvania, several branches of the family spread out into New Jersey, Delaware, New York, and Virginia during the 1700's and 1800's.

WILLIAM WARTNABY OF PENNSYLVANIA

WILLIAM WARTNABY was born in Wartnaby, Leicestershire, England, in 1667 and died in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1733 [Lawrence A. Whartenby].

He married (1) in 1700, Mrs. Mary Welby.

He married (2) Ann, who died in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1741.

It is believed that this William Wartnaby, son of William (late of Wartnaby), and his brother, Edward Wartnaby, who married Elizabeth Duckworth (a Quaker), daughter of Thomas Duckworth, came to America in the early 1700's [Lawrence A. Whartenby].

In 1721, William bought 100 acres in Bristol Township, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, from James Dillworth for 155 pounds which included "all the barns, stables, buildings, gardens, orchards, meadows, marshes, swampe, ways, woods, waters, water courses, fishings, fowlings, hawkings, huntings, right, liberties, privileges and improvements...." [Deed, 1721:21].

In his will of 1733 [W350, 1733, E:270], he bequeathed his personal estate to his wife, Ann, and divided the 100 acres between his sons, Robert and William, with the condition that "if one sells, he sell it to the other". Robert bought out the other and procured the 100 acres. Mention was also made in his will of his eldest son, John, and John's daughters, Rebecca and Ann. Also listed were his daughters, Anne, Mary, and Elizabeth. The inventory of his lands and goods included:

> "The Plantation, his wearing apparrel, 10 sheep, 2 cows, 2 horses, gray mare, red cow, 2 heifers, side saddle, pitch-fork and dung fork, 4 barrels, a churn, 2 kielers, 2 gags, 3 pewter dishes, a bason and 3 plates, 2 potts and potthanger, a tankard, 4 bottles and a glass, plow, irons, & 16 harow tines, four chears and bench, ovel table and old bed." William signed his will with an "X".

In her will of 1741, Ann Whartnaby of Bristol Township, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, "late husband William", distributed property equally to sons, John, Robert, and William, and daughters, Ann Pratt, and Mary Hughs. Also mentioned were John's wife, Elizabeth; Robert's wife, Susannah; and grandson, William Pratt, son of Ann.

Children, by first or second wife, order unknown, surname Wartnaby:

i. John, m. Elizabeth Taylor [US Census, PA, 1790, 1810, 1830].
   Children: 1. Rebecca. 2. Ann.

ii. Robert, d. 1760; m. Susannah Crane, d. 1774. Lived Bristol Twp., Philadelphia Co., PA, on his father's 100-acre farm. Possibly, a servant from Ireland in the Belinda, David Linch, was assigned to "Robert Wartentby" for "five years from July 3rd 1746. Consideration 16 pounds, to have customary dues" [Tepper's Emigrants to PA]; [PA Mag., 32:96].
   Children:
   1. Robert, possibly "of Philadelphia Co., PA, cooper, [who] bequeathed estate to his 'beloved mother during her life and to all his brothers and sisters...' Mentions Uncle Richard Crane, but no other relatives by name. Dated 3 March 1766 [Wills, Philadelphia,PA].

2. Richard, d. 1792, of Oxford Twp., Philadelphia, PA, yeoman; m. Mary. A Richard Wartenby lived in this county in 1790 [AIS, Early Colonial & US Rec., Search 1, LDS].
3. John, m. Elizabeth.
4. William, bricklayer, City of Philadelphia, PA, sold his 1/8 share (12 1/2 acres) of property to brother, Richard, of Oxford Twp., Philadelphia Co., PA, for 100 pounds [Deed, 13 March 1777].
5. Eleanor, possibly "of Bristol"; m. possibly "ca. 1758, Peter Taylor of Bristol Twp., Philadelphia, who died Chaltenham, Montgomery Co., PA, 1784" [PA Mag., 20:279].
6. Elizabeth.
7. Susannah.

iii. William.

WILLIAM WARTENBE OF NEW JERSEY

No definite proof can be found of the connection between William Wartnaby of Pennsylvania and William Wartenbe of New Jersey, who was born probably 1760-64 (subject of this book), although it is generally believed that a close relationship existed.

It is difficult to pinpoint the latter's direct ancestral line because the name "William" was so prevalent in early Wartnaby/Wartenbe records. For instance, William Wartnaby of Pennsylania had a son, William, and a son, Robert, who had a son, William. More research needs to be done to determine if these are related families.

Documentation, however, has been found of Bible, land, tax, military, and probate records in New Jersey and Virginia for William Wartenbe, born probably 1760-64.

Major questions in this line continue to be the parentage of William Wartenbe and Catherine White, documentation of their marriage, and proof of residence in possibly Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, as well as a tie-in with the earlier Wartnaby's.

The lineage of William Wartenbe and his wife, Catherine White, is as follows:

1. WILLIAM[1] WARTENBE was born probably in 1760-64 [Corwin G. Wartenbe]. He died in Salt Creek Township, Muskingum County, Ohio, in July 1821. He or his family came from England according to family tradition.

He married before 1778, Catherine White, of possible Welch extraction, who was born 31 January 1761. She died in Salt Creek Township, Muskingum County, Ohio, on 19 May 1839 [tomb.] and was buried in the Salt Creek Baptist Cemetery there.

"William married a short, heavy girl by the name of Catherine White. When they set up housekeeping, they took all the goods they owned under their arms and footed it to their new home. They were both industrious, worked hard, saved everything, and made a good property.

"William entered the service of his country and fought for American Independence. During the war, smallpox raged through the country. He got a furlough to come home to see his parents and found them both dead and so mortified that they could not be handled with hands. Consequently, he rolled them up in sheets, hauled them out and dug a hole, and buried them both in one grave. In so doing, he buried the last one of the name, himself excepted" [grandson Stewart Patterson Wartenbe's letter].

Their first two children were born in New Jersey in 1779 and 1780.

Two Wartenbe spellings appear in New Jersey military records which is the only appearance of the name in the colonial rosters. These names could be duplications or they could be father and son, uncle and nephew, or cousins.

1. William Whartonby, private, in Captain James Morgan's Company, Second Regiment, Middlesex County Militia, New Jersey, served in active service from September 8 to October 8, 1777 and 18 days between November 14 and December 7, 1777. He received Certificate No. 70 dated June 10, 1784, signed by Thomson Stelle, for 9 pounds, 3 shillings "for the depreciation of his continental pay in the Middlesex County militia" [NJ Archives, MSS. Nos. 812 and 816; Militia, 2nd Year, p. 107].

2. William Wartenby, Captain Morgan's Company, Second Regiment, Middlesex [Stryker's Officers and Men].

Records show that William Wartenby paid taxes in New Brunswick Township, Middlesex County, New Jersey, in September 1772, 1778, and 1780 [AIS Index, Early Colonial & US Rec., 1600-1819, Search 1, LDS]. Also, William Wartenby/Whartilby was on the list of Tax Ratables (1778-1780) in South Ward, New Brunswick, New Jersey [Strycker-Rodda's Revolutionary Census of NJ].

In 1785, he bought 110 acres on Buffalo Creek in Ohio County (now Brooke), Virginia (now West Virginia), for 50 pounds from Lawrence Buskirk, who was an early pioneer settler [Newton's Hist. of the Panhandle]. William appeared on tax lists for this property from 1788-1813 paying taxes on his land, horses, cattle, grist mill, and sawmill.

In 1797, "William Warpenby" received a land grant from the Commonwealth of Virginia for 38 acres in Ohio County, Virginia.

In 1802, William purchased 180 acres (Section 33, Township 10, Range 4) in Jefferson County, Ohio, probably on credit as a patent was issued to him in 1807.

During the War of 1812, William Wartenbe and five others volunteered their services and stood ready to supply the volunteer corps from Brooke County, (West) Virginia, with provisions "for the protection of the Frontier until the government provided more adequate means to repel the enemy" [Flournoy's VA State Papers, X:163].

In 1814, he purchased 80 acres of land near Zanesville, Muskingum County, Ohio, for $644 and moved his family there [D:375].

William was a millwright and mill owner. Catherine was a member of the Salt Creek Baptist Church, Muskingum County, Ohio, in 1823 [Muskingum Co., OH, Footprints, 4:48, 1985].

The will of William Wartenbe of Muskingum County, Ohio, dated 4 July 1821 and proved 31 July 1821 named "beloved wife" Catherine; eldest son John; second son Francis; Francis' two children, Daniel and Sally Wartenbe; third son William; fourth son Isaac; fifth son Joseph; daughters Margaret Baker; Mary Hally; Sally Hally; Jane Smith, wife of Nathan Smith; and Susannah [Muskingum Co., OH, Will Book B:256]. (For complete will, see Appendix.)

Children, surname Wartenbe:

* i. Catherine[2] "Catie", b. NJ, 28 May 1779; m. (1) Joseph Mitten (Myton?), d.

xi. Elizabeth "Betsy", b. 23 Dec. 1797; d. Chandlersville, OH, 1864; m. Muskingum Co., OH, 16 Nov. 1820, Solomon Johnson.

Children: 1. William Wartenbe Johnson of Ironton, Lawrence Co., OH, Judge, Ohio Supreme Court. 2. Dau. 3. Dau.

5. xii. Joseph, b. Brooke Co., VA, 17 Oct. 1799; m. Nancy Smith.

* xiii. M. Jane, b. Brooke Co., VA, 2 Mar. 1801; m. Nathan Smith.

xiv. Mercy, b. 18 Mar. 1803; m. James Crane.

xv. Susannah "Susan", b. 22 Feb. 1806; m. Muskingum Co., OH, 17 Oct. 1822, Daniel Comstock. In father's will, Susannah was left his chest of papers.

2. JOHN[2] WARTENBE was born in New Jersey on 22 November 1780 [Family Bible] and died in Muskingum County, Ohio, on 13 January 1851 [Cem. rec.].

He married ca. 1802/3, Ruth Baker, who was born in Maryland probably 6 January 1785. She died 6 August 1850 [tomb.] or 6 February 1850 [Family Bible] and was buried in the Salt Creek Baptist Cemetery in Muskingum County, Ohio. (The tombstone indicates she was 61 years and 7 months old when she died, which would imply a birthdate of 6 January 1789, making her marriage when she was but a girl of 13 or 14. The tombstone is more likely to be correct as to the number of months than the year; hence, the Family Bible is more likely correct as to the year of birth [R.G. Windsor Spellman].) Another record of her death date shows 6 February 1850 [Muskingum Co. Footprints, OH, 4:46, 1985].

"In 1809, John Wartenbee came from Wellsburg, Virginia, and built a small sawmill on Salt Creek on the southwest quarter of Section 22 in 1810, and built a small grist mill in 1812" [Everhart's Hist. of Muskingum Co., OH]. He was listed as a juror in Perry Township, Muskingum County, Ohio, in 1819, 1827, and 1828. "Early male jurors chosen were well versed, in good community standing, and with the ability to deal with problems that required their attention" [Muskingum Co. Footprints, OH, Vol. 2].

Ruth was one of the original founders of the church as shown in Everhart's History of Muskingum County, Ohio: "Salt Creek Baptist Church (seven miles east of Zanesvill, Ohio, in Muskingum County, Ohio) was organized on 14 September 1811 by Elder Henry Pringle and Daniel Horton. The Society had ten members, including the following persons: Daniel Horton, Henry Pringle, Isaiah Culver, Samuel White, Phoebe Horton, Nancy Culver, Ruth Wartenby, and Rachael Brown."

Children, first four born in Brooke Co., VA, [Ballou's Gen. of Ballous in America], surname Wartenbe:

6. i. William[3] B(aker), b. 23 Jan. 1804; m. Elvira Westbrook.

iii. Sarah "Sally", b. 18 Sept. 1812; m. Dresden, OH, 1 June 1836, Robert Vincent.

Children, by second wife, surname Wartenbe:
8. iv. David Francis, b. 23 Oct. 1823; m. (1) Mary Forsythe, m. (2) Sara Jane Lafferty O'dell.

v. Mordecai.
vi. Catherine, m. OH, Hall.

4. ISAAC[2] WARTENBE was born near Buffalo Creek, Brooke County, Virginia (now West Virginia), on 24/27 January 1794. He died in Defiance County, Ohio, on 19 March 1860 and was buried in Hicksville, Defiance County, Ohio.

He married (1) in Brooke County, Virginia, (Muskingum County, Ohio?), on 6 August 1817, Mercy Pierce Robinson, who was born in Brooke County on 7 February 1793, daughter of Aaron Robinson and Mercy Pearce. She died in Farmer Township, Defiance County, on 20 October 1838, first death in Farmer Township. Mr. Arrowsmith furnished lumber for her coffin, and the first Methodist preaching in the county was at her funeral by George W. Chapman.

He married (2) in Defiance County, Ohio, on 16 July 1840, Eliza (Dawson) Guthrie.

He came to Morgan County (now Noble), Ohio, with parents in 1797 when he was three years of age and moved to Muskingum County, Ohio, in 1806 when he was twelve years old. He was listed as a juror in Salt Creek Township, Muskingum County, Ohio, in 1827. "Early male jurors chosen were well versed, in good community standing, and with the ability to deal with problems that required their attention" [Muskingum County Footprints, OH, v. 2]. Later, he settled on Section 10 in Farmer Township, Defiance County, in 1834.

In October 1845, he was one of the voters of the first election in Hicksville and the third family to settle in Farmer Township. He served as Justice of the Peace, was a member of the Disciples Church, and taught music [Hist. of Defiance Co., OH, 1883].

5. JOSEPH[2] WARTENBE was born at Buffalo Creek in Brooke County, Virginia (now West Virginia), near Wellsburg on 17 October 1799 and died on 16 February 1854 [Nat'l Archives Pension Rec., son Nathan, #174,923] or 24 February 1854 [letter from granddaughter, Addie Sawyer Miller].

He married in Muskingum County, Ohio, on 20 June 1820 [2:255], Nancy[6] Smith, who was born in Frederick County, Virginia, on 5 December 1801, daughter of Martin Smith and Lydia Shaver. She died in DeKalb County, Indiana, on 13 December 1888 and was buried in Upper Lost Creek Cemetery, Defiance County, Ohio, beside her son, Martin S.

In 1829, he sold six acres in Muskingum County (willed to him by father [K:65]) to his brother, William. He moved to Williams County, Ohio, in 1831, and in 1834 moved his family to Defiance County, Ohio.

In 1835, he sold eighty acres in Defiance County to Samuel Wheeler for $180 [1:549].

Joseph appeared on a delinquent tax list in Highland Township, Defiance County, Ohio; he owed $7.51 on 40 acres.

In 1840, his son, Stewart Patterson, "took charge of his mother and family" at age 17 [Stewart Patterson Wartenbe's letter].

The Lima Argus newspaper published the following article on 28 May 1848:

"An old man named Joseph Wartenbe was lodged in our jail on Saturday evening upon a charge of murder. The facts, as we have gathered them from the Constable having charge of the prisoner, are substantially these.

"The prisoner and the deceased, whose name is O. Edson, started from Rhinehearts in Paulding County on Saturday morning on the canal boat Purviance. They had not proceeded far before they discovered some ducks, which the prisoner and the deceased both attempted to get a shot at. The prisoner fired first and frightened the game, which so enraged the deceased that he threatened to flog him and made various attempts to carry his threat into execution.

"By the exertions of the Captain of the boat, he was apparently pacified, and the Captain went below leaving Wartenbe, the deceased, and the steerman on deck. The deceased addressed a few words to the steerman and again made at Wartenbe who attempted to get below out of reach, but the hatchway was fastened and his escape prevented.

"Wartenbe then faced the deceased with the gun resting on his arm, the muzzle toward the deceased, his gun at half cock. In this position, the deceased, still pressing on Wartenbe, the gun was discharged, the ball passing through the body of the deceased who immediately rushed on Wartenbe, threw him into the canel, and then staggering back exclaimed, 'My God, he has killed me.' He died in 20 minutes.

"Wartenbe went back to the boat and came to Sec. 10 where he delivered himself up to Esq. Pedicord who remanded him to our jail to await the demand of the proper authorities of Paulding County.

"It is stated by those who have known the prisoner many years that he has always borne the character of a harmless and inoffensive man. [Defiance Democrat, 4 May 1848]."

Joseph's occupation was carpenter. In the 1850 US Census, he was listed with the George B. Woodcox family in Defiance Township, Defiance County, Ohio, and his wife, Nancy, and their eight children were listed in the same census living in Farmer Township, Defiance County. According to the 1860 US Census, Nancy lived in Farmer Township with her daughter, Nancy, and son, Nathan.

Nancy lived with her son, Stewart, during the last six years of her life in DeKalb County, Indiana. Upon her death, the inventory of her personal property included a trunk, comforter, four quilts, blanket, coverlid, strawtick, three pillows, feather bed, lounge, table, and rocking chair. Among her possessions was a note for $850 from her son, Stewart, because "he wanted her to feel as though she had money in the bank and could go where she pleased and pay her own way [Stewart's notes]. Her will stated that "my son and five daughters shall each receive 1/6 of the remaining property" [Docket 1:134, Journal 5:481].

7. SAMUEL W.[3] WARTENBE was born near Wellsburg, Brooke County, Virginia (now West Virginia), on 18 March 1810. He died in Cincinnati, Ohio, on 20 June 1851 and was buried in Duncan Falls, Muskingum County, Ohio.

He married in Brookfield Township, Morgan County (now Noble), Ohio, on 22 September 1838, Lorinda Ballou, who was born in Chandlersville, Ohio, on 7 January 1815, daughter of Welcome Ballou and Aurelia Taft (Tuft?). She died in Granville, Licking County, Ohio, in March 1916.

He, his wife, and two children moved from Zanesville, Muskingum County, Ohio, to Duncan Falls in 1842 (Ballou's Gen. of Ballou's in America].

He was a millwright and a mill owner.

After her husband's death, Lorinda and her daughter, Edith, took in student boarders from Denison University when the latter purchased a house in Granville. Lorinda was a devout Christian.

Children, first two born in Zanesville, Muskingum County, Ohio, surname Wartenbe:

8. DAVID FRANCIS[3] WARTINBEE (apparently first of line to spell the name "Wartinbee") was born in Pine Creek, Armstrong County, Pennsylvania, on 23 October 1823. He died in Mondovi, Buffalo County, Wisconsin, on 12 January 1910 at the home of Loney Hicks and was buried in Pepin, Wisconsin.

He married (1) probably Armstrong County, Pennsylvania, in 1844-48, Mary Forsythe, who was born probably in Armstrong County on 26 June 1818, daughter of George Forsythe, early school teacher in Armstrong County. She died in Pepin, Wisconsin, on 15 January 1875 and was buried there.

He married (2) in Mondovi, Wisconsin, on 17 May 1890, Sara Jane Lafferty O'dell. They were divorced in Buffalo County on 16 April 1895.

In Pennsylvania, David Francis had at one time hauled coal near the mines, and in the census he was listed as a wagoneer.

He and his first wife, Mary Forsythe, came from Pennsylvania to Pepin, Wisconsin ca. 1864-66 staying with and then settling near Mary Forsythe's brother, Daniel L. Forsythe, who had moved to Wisconsin in 1858.

In Wisconsin, he logged and farmed. After the death of Mary and the marriage of his daughter, he moved from Pepin to the Modovi area in Wisconsin in his later years.

Children, by first wife, born Pennsylvania, surname Wartinbee:

12. i. Francis David[4] II, b. 2 Nov. 1848; m. Hannah Broatch.

9. STEWART PATTERSON[3] WARTENBE was born in Salt Creek Township, Muskingum County, Ohio, on 29 March 1823. He died in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 7 April 1905 and was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery in DeKalb County, Indiana.

He married in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 3 February 1859 [2:66], Cordelia (Wanamaker) Webster, who was born in Trumbull County, Ohio, on 18 March 1830, daughter of Samuel E. Wanamaker and Maria Barbara Hake. Rev. Samuel E. Wanamaker performed the wedding ceremony. She died in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 20 June 1905 and was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery. Cordelia was the widow of William Webster, who had a son, George D., born 13 July 1846 by a previous marriage. Cordelia and William Webster had a son, Wallace C., who was born 15 September 1851.

In 1901, at the age of 78, Stewart wrote to his cousin, Martha:

"I came west with my father from Muskingum County, Ohio, to Defiance County, Ohio, in 1834 when I was 11 years old. There were plenty of Indians and no schools. My father never sent me to school enough to learn me to read. I was 16 years old and working out by the month to help support my mother when I made my first attempt to learn to write. When I was 17 years old, I took charge of my mother and family.

"We were at the foot of poverty hill. We hadn't a foot of land, not even a cow or pig. Mother had a brother living about 20 miles away. I took a lease from him for 12 years -- all woods. I built a cabin on it, moved my folks into it, and went to chopping by the job to keep the folks from starving. I grew up without an education, but made a home for my younger brothers and sisters and gave them a chance to attend school.

"I bought my first cow about 18 months after commencing in the woods. I spent every odd hour in improving my lease. As time rolled on, I began to raise a little grain and stock. We lived close, saved everything, kept the family together, and succeeded in buying 40 acres of land, all woods [2:232, 1849].

"About that time, I began to work with carpenter and joiner tools, helped build a good many fine residences, finally became a master builder, and conducted the trade for myself. I added 80 acres more land to my 40 [3:389, 1852]. I had an improvement of 65 acres, an orchard, a little frame house, and an old log house.

"I come very near to being an 'old maid' at age 35, but I began to look around and at a fair, four miles from my home in Defiance County, Ohio, I beheld the form and features of a married lady. I fell in love with her at first sight, supposing she was single. It would have made you grieve to have seen me scratch my head when I found out my mistake, but the impression did not vanish from my mind. She lived at the edge of Indiana, 10 miles distant, and I did not see her again for a year and a half. During that time, her husband died [1857] and in due time I sought her acquaintance.

"On February 3, 1859, Cordelia and I were married. She had one son about six years old. On September 15, 1860, we had a son, Corwin Grant, and on January 12, 1868, another son, Charles Sumner, was born.

"My wife held dower in the place on which she lived in DeKalb County, Indiana, and she had a comfortable frame house there, therefore I went to live with her. I built an addition on both ends of her house, and now we live with each other [Corwin and his family]."

At age 22, Stewart appeared on the voters list in Farmer Township, Defiance County, Ohio, in 1845 [Powell's Early Ohio Tax Rec.] By 1860, he owned 136 acres of land in DeKalb County, Indiana [1860 US Census].

In 1897, Frank Austin Maxwell, Isaac Wartenbe's grandson and Stewart Wartenbe's great-nephew, told of a trip he and a friend took riding a double tandem bicycle across the state of Indiana to Hicksville, Ohio. They stopped at Stewart's home in DeKalb County, Indiana, on the way back and stayed overnight. The plan was to leave about 5:00 a.m. the next morning, and breakfast was to be left for them so they could eat before the household was up. But when 5:00 a.m. came, both Stewart and Cordelia were up, and he was reading from the Bible. Frank's friend was at that time studying for the ministry, so there was nothing to do but read a few chapters in the Bible before they set out on their way to Chicago.

When asked by cousin, Martha V. Wartenbe, which church he attended, Stewart replied, "I am a strong advocate of Christian union for which I both work and pray, and as it cannot be established on the creed of any church, it must be established on the gospel of Christ or not at all. I have always been conscientious seeking the light and willing to exchange error for truth at any time.

"I started out to be a united Brethren thinking they were nearest Christian union of any other church I know of, but in studying the gospel of Christ and their discipline, I found they did not harmonize. I then went into the Baptist Church thinking tney were about the nearest to heaven than any other, but on becoming acquainted with their Calvinistic theory, I concluded to join a church whose creed needed no revision. I am a Christian, and it is my grand support as I journey down the western slope of life."

Martha wrote back to her cousin: "From the papers you sent, we all judged that you belong to the Christian Church, the Church of Christ, or the Disciples. Mama says you belong to a real good church."

On 10 March 1868, Stewart bought a Certificate of Stock for $100 in the Northwestern University, Indianapolis, Indiana [now Butler University], which was opened in 1855 by the Disciples of Christ denomination [Indiana Writer's Project].

On 8 August 1859, Stewart was baptized in the Church of Christ at Wanamaker's corners in Newville, Indiana, (variously called the Disciples Church in 1885, and the Christian Church) and "served acceptably for years" as elder. "He was earnest, active, liberal, and devoted to the cause of his Master. It is a well-known fact that perhaps no member of the church was more widely known or has devoted more time and money to church affairs than he, and although living three miles from the church, never let anything prevent his attending except illness" [Christian Standard, obit].

Cordelia joined the same church in 1845 at the age of 15. Her father, Rev. Samuel E. Wanamaker, was pastor.

Stewart was described as "one of the most successful stockraisers in the township. [He raised horses, cows, sheep, chickens, and pigs.] He has been a good manager, industrious and frugal, and now has a competency with which to enjoy life" [Hist. of DeKalb Co., IN, 1885]. Cordelia was a "great, good woman, who possessed a meek and quiet spirit and wielded a great deal of influence among her friends and neighbors" [Obit.].

Stewart and Cordelia died only three months apart in the year 1905. An inventory of his personal property upon his death included wheat, oats, barley, corn, 2 colts, 2 cows, 1 steer, 1 heifer, 1 calf, 18 hogs, 8 sheep, 8 lambs, 50 chickens, potatoes, 1 single buggy, 1 double buggy, sleigh, pair bobsleds, sower, spring-tooth harrow, breaking plow, double harness, single harness, and sap pails. His stepson, Wallace C. Webster was named executor of his estate [4:329-330].

His will declared that his wife, Cordelia, be given 136 acres of property, his driving mare called "Dolly", his buggy, and $500 life insurance. He willed his granddaughter, Clara Wartenbe, $60 and a red cow called "Pink". To his stepson, Wallace C. Webster, he left $100; and to his eldest son, Corwin Grant, his tool chest and mechanical tools. After Cordelia's death, the property was to be divided between his two sons, Corwin Grant and Charles Sumner. He also willed that all personal property would be sold after his death to pay debts and to erect a monument for himself and his wife, and the remaining money would be given to his two sons: Corwin 4/5, and Charles 1/5.

13. CORWIN GRANT[4] "CORMA" WARTENBE was born in Stafford Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on 18 September 1860. He died in Montgomery, Hillsdale County, Michigan, on 25 December 1949, and was buried in the Wartenbe Cemetery in DeKalb County.

He married in DeKalb County on 26 October 1882, Mary Ellen[3] Joslin, who was born in Taylor, Cortland County, New York, on 21 June 1860, daughter of Clark Joslin, Jr., and Mary Victoria Cotton. She died in DeKalb County on 6 January 1914 and is buried in the same cemetery.

He lived the greater part of his life on the old home farm in DeKalb County. He helped his father, Stewart Patterson Wartenbe, farm 136 acres on Section 29 [W:375], and together they built an addition onto the farmhouse for Corwin, his wife, and five daughters.

His son-in-law, Will Leonhardt, said Corwin was musically inclined but not farmerized". Corwin played the piano, sang in the choir, and lead the singing at the Newville Church of Christ. His daughter, Georgia, stated it was her father's ambition to study and write music, but this was never realized because he had to help his father farm. For many years, he was a worker in the church serving as deacon, elder, and trustee.

He was a farmer and carpenter. His grandaughter, Lois Fritz, described him as "always working in the garden or building a fence or arbor. He was a gentle, quiet, religious man, happy and hard-working." Another granddaughter, Mary Esther Ford, remembered him as "very kind and cheerful."

After the death of his parents in 1905 and his wife's death in 1914, he sold the 136 acres of land in 1915 to F.W. and G.A. Richardson for $12,150 [89:359] and donated a good portion of it to pay the church mortgage.

He bought the Chapman farm north of Fremont, Indiana, and lived there with his daughters, Virginia and Esther. His oldest daughter, Clara Leonhardt, and her family also moved in with him.

In 1921, upon Esther's graduation from high school, he, Esther, and Rev. Thompson drove to California in a 1912 Cadillac. Corwin played the organ, Esther sang hymns, and Rev. Thompson preached. They made their way across country by "passing the hat" for a free will offering. The maximum mileage per day was 100 miles. It took six weeks to drive to California via Denver, Colorado, and the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Esther remembered the high mountains and the big log her father tied on the back of the car to drag on the ground "to slow it down coming down all those steep curves."

Upon arriving in California, Corwin and his friend, Mr. Fitzgerald, worked as traveling salesmen selling Hamilton Beach Carpet Washers. Esther "put herself through" San Jose State Teachers College by working in a cannery and washing dishes. After Esther's marriage in Sacramento, California, her father lived with her for awhile, then in 1932 he returned to Montgomery, Michigan, to live with his daughter, Virginia, until his death in 1949.

In a letter, his brother, Charles Sumner, paid him a fitting tribute: "Your life has been a blessing to others. While some may have accumulated a few more dollars than you have, such an accumulation affords no lasting satisfaction. That which is spiritual enriches the life and shows the real worth of a man. Yours has been an unselfish life which has been a worthy example to others."

Mary Ellen taught school five years in DeKalb County before her marriage. Later in life, she fell through the hay mow in the barn and broke her hip which confined her to a wheelchair. "It was her worthy pride to do thoroughly and well whatever she undertook. Having a cheerful disposition, she sacrificed for others and gave the best of her life to the care of her family. She became a member of the Christian Church at Newville, Indiana, and was always working to do what she could for her Master, being marvelously patient to the end of life's journey" [Obit.].

14. CHARLES SUMNER[4] WARTENBE was born in DeKalb County, Indiana, on 12 January 1868 and died in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on 14 March 1949.

He married in 1895, Virginia Dixon, who was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1874, daughter of Charles Hudson Dixon and Ella J. She died in Minneapolis on 29 March 1962 and was buried in the Lakewood Cemetery there.

"Charles was president of a city union in Minneapolis, Minnesota, composed of 95 Christian Endeavor societies, and Virginia Dixon was manager of the junior societies at the same time. During their one-year term of office, they became acquainted and formed a union of their own as man and wife" [Stewart Patterson Wartenbe].

In 1901, Charles worked for a real estate and money lending agency in Minneapolis for $300 a month. In 1905, he graduated from the College of Law, University of Minnesota, and was chosen president of his class. He was admitted to the bar the same year. He became vice-president of the Marsh and McLellan Insurance Company in Minneapolis.

Virginia was a teacher and ran a private school for young children for five years before her marriage. She also taught Sunday School for three- and four-year-old children. She was a member of the Second Church of Christ Scientist in Minneapolis and the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts.

She handsewed a quilt cover called "Grandmother's Flower Garden" with tiny stitches and small colored pieces of fabric.

She completed an eight-week lecture course at the University of Minnesota in English literature, and in 1953 wrote a book entitled I Remember. Her only child lived just one day, and she wrote a touching memorial to her son on page 26:

"I remember...it was such a precious - reverent - radiant - experience. It was the unfoldment of my consciousness during the days just preceding the birth of our little son, over fifty years ago.

"My husband and I spent those days in deepest gratitude preparing our hearts and our home for his coming. 'He came with the June-time, a dear little guest, to stay but a day in our earth land, from whence to whence? I only know out of God's hand - into God's hand' [author unknown].

"Because he meant so much to us, we could let him go with divine Love, and still be happy holding him in memory - a memory that influenced us in consecrating a part of our future to helping others who have known loss and sorrow.

"I wish I could gather all the dear mothers - yes - and fathers too, about me, and could tell them of the many years in my life, when I have mothered and ministered to the babies who needed mothers.

"I would tell these parents that their babies that did not stay had left them a legacy - a rich gift - the privilege of giving happiness to a wide - wide - world of babies. I have been left a legacy - a wonderful heart-warming legacy!

"I smile through my tears for I have been bequeathed other people's babies. Their smiles, their tears, their whimpers - yes, their funny little tempers - were willed to me just before the sunniest atom of all took sail in his wee white ship for the land of Near-Away.

"Much there lies in the stormiest baby's cry. Rainbows I find in the tears of a baby's eyes, for they bring back the bright drops that fell from my eyes on the eyes of violet hue, and when I kiss the eyes of another mother's child, it strangely eases the ache in this heart of mine.

"For babies are cuddly, rose leafy, soft and sweet. Such friends they are to the lonely, with their shy fleeting smiles, their wise quiet eyes, and their gurgling glee at finding a friend just over the way.

"No matter how dreary, no matter how sad this gray world has grown, if you make friends of the babies wherever you meet them - in train, street or car, in carriage of state, all snuggled soft in broidered covers and silken puffs - or pillowed in a tired mother's arms on the steps of Poverty Town, - you will find that the grayness has somehow rainbowed into gladness, and all the shadows of life have scurried away under the magic touch of these God-given sunbeams.

"I know! for my heart is wrapped about the chubby toes and pink fingers - the sweet eyes and the buttony noses, the rosebud mouths and the dimpled chins of all the babies that have flowered across my path. I know, you see, because they have been willed to me by the Baby - who - could - not - stay."

WILL OF WILLIAM WARTENBE
[Will Book B, page 256, Muskingum County, Ohio]

In the name of God Amen, I Willim Wartenbe of the State of Ohio, Muskingum County, being weak in body, but of sound and perfect mind and memory, do make and publish this my last will and testament, in manner and form following (that is to say),

First, I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Katharine Wartenbe the quarter section of land where on we now reside, being the Southeast Quarter of Section No. 23, Range No. 6, Township No. 1 (Military land) together with all the moveable property, except the blacksmith tools and other tools and one chest and its contents, and household furniture during her natural life, and at her decease to be divided between the girls as she may think best except so much of the land as may be overflowed by the backwater of John Wartenbe's mill dam which is hereby reserved for his use forever.

I do also give and bequeath to my eldest son John Wartenbe the carding machine at his mills, the balance that is yet due for the machine is to be paid out of the money that is due to the estate.

I do also give and bequeath to my third son William Wartenbe two hundred acres of land being in Perry Township adjoining lands of David Smith, Henry Karns, and others purchased of Jacob Crooks.

I do also give and bequeath to my second son Frances Wartenbe one quarter section of land being the Northwest Quarter of Section six in Township seven of Range nine during his natural life and at his decease it is my will that the land be divided equally between his two eldest children Daniel Wartenbe and Sally Wartenbe.

I do also give and bequeath to my fourth son Isaac Wartenbe a certain tract of land being part of the Northwest Quarter of Section No. twenty one, Township No. thirteen, Range No. twelve, containing twenty seven acres and sixty hundredths together with the mills and appurtenances thereunto belonging, also one pair of mill stones lying at John Wartenbe's with the irons belonging to the same, and one set of sawmill irons and mill saw the last named land and mills to be paid for out of the money due to the estate.

I do also give and bequeath to my fifth son Joseph Wartenbe one quarter section of land being the Northeast Quarter of Section No. four, Township No. thirteen of Range No. twelve.

It is also further my will that my son John Wartenbe shall have all my blacksmith tools, and all the remainder of my shop tools I will and direct to be equally divided between my two sons William Wartenbe and Joseph Wartenbe.

I do also give and bequeath to my daughter Margaret Baker the lawful interest of one hundred dollars to be paid annually until her youngest child comes to be of age the principle is then to be equally divided between her children.

I do also give and bequeath to my daughter Mary Hally one undivided half quarter section of land being the West half of Section three, Township thirteen, Range twelve, by paying one hundred dollars which I also give and bequeath to my daughter Sarah Hally, together with one hundred and sixty five dollars which is due to me, making in all two hundred and sixty five dollars.

I do also further will and direct that all my just debts be paid out of the money coming to the estate as soon as circumstances will admit, and the balance of the money which is coming to the estate I will and direct to be equally divided between my beloved wife Katharine Wartenbe and my four sons John Wartenbe, William Wartenbe, Isaac Wartenbe, and Joseph Wartenbe and my daughter Jane Smith, wife of Nathan Smith.

I do also give and bequeath to my daughter Susannah Wartenbe my chest in which I kept my papers together with its contents.

And I do hereby appoint John Wartenbe and Isaac Wartenbe executors of this my last will and testament hereby revoking all former wills by me made. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this fourth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty one.

/s/ William Wartenbe

Signed, sealed, published and declared by the above named William Wartenbe to be his last will and testament in the presence of us who have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses in the presence of testator.
